

New JUHSD budget falls $1.1 million short

The Jefferson Union High School District's initial draft budget for 1979-80 proposes operating on nearly $1 million less than last year and spending $1.1 million that the district does not have.

"We're proposing a deficit budget," explained Margaret Riggs, acting associate superintendent of operations for the district.

That means that the district will have to receive $1.1 million more than it now anticipates or trustees will have to trim that amount from the budget before they adopt it.

But Miss Riggs admitted that the $15.6 million budget she prepared is "conservative."

It anticipates state funding only 6 percent higher than the district received last year, although state legislators are talking about increasing the handouts by as much as 9 percent.

There is, however, one state bill that would give school districts only a 4 1/2 percent increase.

Miss Riggs said she estimated on the high side for some unknown costs such as the amount the district will have to pay to Blue Cross. "We were told it wouldn't increase more than 10 percent and we figured in a 10 percent increase," she said.

The budget allocates $12.5 million — 80 percent of total expenditures — on wages and benefits, compared to $12.1 million (73 percent) of this year's $16.6 million budget.

Despite the higher cost of personnel, it assumes that 19 certificated teachers will be laid off and the number of employees staffing special programs and services will be drastically reduced.

In March, the trustees voted to fire the 19 teachers and eliminate nurses, the work experience program, some attendance supervisors, counselors and department heads, an activity director, two administrators, many adult education courses, the Regional Occupational Program and behind-the-wheel driver training.

The trustees said they will reinstate those programs and a larger staff if sufficient state funding is received.

The proposed 1979-80 budget allocates the same proportion of money — 4 percent — on educational materials, equipment and transportation. It allocates slightly more — 9 percent compared to 8 percent last year — on fixed expenses, including insurance, conferences and conventions, consultants, utilities and legal services.

Miss Riggs said the ratio of classroom teachers to students would be approximately the same under the new budget as it is now. But she pointed out that the overall student-teacher ratio would be lower, since there would be fewer teachers offering specialized training to students.

The district expects to have 6,676 students next year, compared to the 7,024 currently enrolled.

The budget will not be official until trustees adopt it. Under state law, they must adopt a balanced budget by July 1.

Since state legislators may not announce educational financing for the coming year by then, Miss Riggs said the legislators may change the budget deadline to a later date.

Retiring Ribera knows when the time is right

By TERRY DAVENPORT
Ernie Ribera learned long ago when he was a track man in high school that timing is important. The mild-mannered, 57-year-old man still had that philosophy when he was offered a job as business manager of Sacred Heart Schools in Menlo Park.

"It was a good opportunity. If I waited another year to retire, maybe an opportunity like this wouldn't have been available. It was a matter of timing," he said.

So Ribera left his job as associate superintendent of the Jefferson Union High School District last week, ending a 30 1/2 year career in public education.

He won't officially retire until June 30, when his vacation time runs out, but the celebrating starts early. Old friends will toast him this Friday at a dinner at the San Mateo Elks Club.

Ribera's long affiliation with the district began in 1949, when he taught social studies and U.S. history and coached track at Jefferson High School in Daly City.

At that time, it was the only school in the district and had just 800 students. Today the district has six high schools and more than 7,000 students.

Ribera said he thought of going into several professions, including law, and decided on teaching because he enjoys kids, likes to get involved in activities with youngsters and is a history buff.

"Plus I wanted to coach track," he said.

Ribera admits to being a "track nut." He ran for his high school and chalked up a laudable record as a miler and half-miler at San Jose State.

In 1956, he began teaching and coaching track at Westmoor High School. He became a department head at the school but he's proudest of the fact that he coached Dave Dunbar, the student who broke the high school half-mile record in 1958 with a time of 1:53.2.

Ribera went on to become vice principal of Terra Nova High School in Pacifica when it opened in 1960 and principal of Oceana High School, also in Pacifica, when it opened two years later.

He recalls his years at Oceana as his happiest because of the enthusiasm the community had for the brand new school. Although he sometimes attended functions six nights a week, Ribera said he enjoyed every minute.

At the same time, Ribera and his wife, Shirley, were busy raising eight children who now range in age from 26 to 13. It's no coincidence that all of them were fine athletes in local schools and his three boys were track stars.

Two of his children, Theresa and Carol, went to their father's alma mater: San Jose State.

One, Jimmy, followed his father's footsteps and joined the Marine Corps. (Ribera was in the Marine reserves for 20 years and served two tours of active duty.)

His eldest son, Ernie, just got his M.D. from Michigan State University and plans to become a Navy doctor.

Ribera is a proud papa. "Sometimes I can't believe how well they turned out. Maybe I shouldn't say this, but they've got my drive and their mother's gentle attitude," he said.

He encountered more obstacles in education as he climbed further up the ranks of the Jefferson Union High School District.

After filling in as principal of Jefferson High once again in 1966, he became assistant superintendent of education for the district in 1968. In 1978, he became the district's associate superintendent of operations.

Through the years, Ribera has watched state education laws become more and more complicated.

For him, that meant writing more reports. "The state Department of Education is larger. When you get a big office building full of people, they have to do something," he said.

He has found some of the new regulations to be good ideas that aren't practical.

Ribera's pet peeve is the time it takes the state legislature to approve funding for school districts. As has been the pattern for many years, the legislature still hasn't told districts what kind of money they can expect for 1979-80.

"We have to do planning in December and January, set up programs in February and March and decide how many teachers we need by March 15," he lamented.

Ribera believes that the increasing number of working parents makes the schools' job more difficult. Nevertheless, he said youngsters haven't changed. "Kids are still kids — and most of them are very enjoyable."

He also had fine things to say about teachers. In fact, when this newspaper interviewed him, Ribera was preparing to have lunch with the president of the local teachers' union, Marcy Dunne Ballard. "Even though we're on opposite sides of the fence, we're friends," he explained.

Raising eight children took most of Ribera's free time, but he also managed to serve on the county Parks and Recreation Commission for 11 years, the county Council on Criminal Justice for four years and he ran for county superintendent of schools last June, coming in third with 27,000 votes.

The energetic man took only one day off before he plunged into his new job with Sacred Heart Schools. As business manager, he will be responsible for the budget, maintenance and operations of the 65-acre school system, which has a preschool Montessori school, an elementary school, a girls high school and a boarding school for girls.

It's like starting all over for Ribera, for there are just 600 youngsters enrolled in Sacred Heart Schools. Ribera is approaching his new job with the same zest he had 30 1/2 years ago.

"I feel good about this. It's the right thing at the right time," he said.

SERRAMONTE PLAZA

Prudential buys big complex

Tenants in Serramonte Plaza have a new landlord.

The Crocker Land Co. sold the 27 1/2-acre commercial and office complex in Daly City Monday to Prudential Insurance Co. of America for more than $20 million cash.

The sale was another step in Foremost-McKesson, Inc.'s plan to liquidate its subsidiary, Crocker Land Co.

Crocker Land Co. developed Serramonte Plaza from scratch nine years ago with an eye toward selling it once it became an income producer.

Sherman Eubanks of Crocker Land Co. said he doesn't believe tenants in the complex will be affected by the sale.

"Theoretically, the new owner could raise rents and kick people out but the buyer is of such stature that it would not do that," he remarked.

Located adjacent to Serramonte Shopping Center, Serramonte Plaza is bounded by Serramonte Boulevard on the north, Gellert Boulevard on the west, Hickey Boulevard on the south and Interstate 280 on the east.

The mixed use office park includes office buildings, savings and loan institutions, banks, restaurants, a twin-screen theater, a racquetball court, Breuner's Furniture store, a number of dentists' offices and Assemblyman Louis J. Papan's office.

Since last October, when Foremost-McKesson announced its liquidation plan, the firm has sold 77 out of 81 separate real estate parcels in California and Mexico. The sale of Serramonte Plaza was the largest single transaction.

Proceeds from the entire liquidation plan are expected to exceed $65 million.

Foremost-McKesson plans to retain Crocker Land Co.'s 50 percent interest in its 38-story headquarters building in San Francisco and in Visitation Associates, a joint venture that owns a portion of San Bruno Mountain.

Buyer eyes Crown Colony

SOON TO BE CONDOMINIUMS?

A Southern California company is thinking about converting them into condominiums. buying the Crown Colony Apartments in Daly City

One of Daly City's largest apartment complexes may be converted into condominiums.

Cadillac Fair View Homes West of Newport Beach is considering buying an option on the 920-unit Crown Colony Apartments with the idea of converting them into condominiums.

David Kuhn, vice president for community development for the firm, said Tuesday that, if his company proceeds with the venture, it would offer the apartments for sale as condominiums.

Kuhn said the project would be a joint venture with Warmington Development Co. of Irvine.

The companies have until next week to decide whether to buy the option at an undisclosed price.

The condominiums would be priced at from $50,000 to $100,000. Kuhn said. "Our best information indicates there are practically no homes available under the $90,000 to $100,000 range on the entire Peninsula. We feel this would be an opportunity to provide housing for a segment of the market that is not currently being provided."

Kuhn said it would be six months — See CONDOS, Page Two

Sewer refunds on way

Daly City, Colma and unincorporated Colma residents who were overcharged by the North San Mateo County Sanitation District last fall can expect refund checks in the mail in about a month.

And the processing of refunds has cost — to date — less than a third of the $100,000 originally estimated.

That was the word Monday from Monique Carrington, who came on board March 16 as finance officer for the district.

Along with Peter Archuleta, who became district manager in January, she has been busy unraveling the snafu that resulted in the overbilling of 22,000 sewer users by $400,000 on last fall's property tax bills.

An outside accountant, Richard Dwyer, announced after investigating the problem that correcting the bills and issuing refunds surely would cost the district $100,000.

Dwyer himself charged the district $2,840 for his assessment of the problem.

Other costs attributed to date to scrambling the over-billing are:

—$3,497 to Resources, Engineering and Management of South San Francisco, for time the engineering firm spent resolving problems connected with the overcharge.

—$100 to the county for computer processing time.

—$3,658 spent on temporary employees at $3.45 per hour who retrieved information from Daly City's water meter books and posted it on computer print-outs.

—$900 of Ms. Carrington's time (she earns $1,724 per month).

—A maximum of $18,620 to the First National Bank of Daly City, the bank hired by the district to issue the refunds.

If the bank charges the full amount, the cost to date for correcting the overbilling is $29,615.

Ms. Carrington said the district also must pay a temporary employee who is checking paperwork connected with the overbilling.

She said the district has spent about $31,000 so far trying to correct the sewage treatment plant's persistent odor problem.

Although an enclosure designed to eliminate the plant's noise problem is, in Archuleta's words, "90 percent complete," he and Ms. Carrington were unable to estimate its cost.

A negotiating consulting firm, the Industrial Employers and Distributors Association of Emeryville was scheduled to begin negotiations with the district's local union today.

The annual cost to the district for the firm's services is $1,728.

Non-supervisory employees of the district voted last month to have Local No. 39 of the AFL-CIO International Union of Operating Engineers and Stationary Engineers represent them in negotiations.

Colma recall leader claims the rules have been changed

A movement to recall three Colma City Council members appears to be floundering.

Ray Lencioni, one of five local citizens who issued "Notice of Intent to Recall" documents last month to Mayor Eugene Daneluz, Vice Mayor Fred Garbini and Councilman Raymond D. Ottoboni, said Monday, "We've got to start all over if we're going to do it."

The problem, according to Lencioni, is that the recall group members had petitions printed and ready to circulate when they learned the papers had to be approved by the county clerk's office.

Upon checking with that office, Lencioni said he discovered "they've changed all the regulations."

He said he and other recall proponents plan to decide by the end of this week whether they will continue with the effort.

"It's going to be more expensive than we thought," he commented.

Talk of recall began when Daneluz, Garbini and Ottoboni refused to reconsider their acceptance of Police Chief Jim Dorris' resignation, despite appeals from about 50 businessmen and citizens who wanted Dorris to stay on at any cost.

Recall proponents say they are concerned about the level of police protection being provided in Colma.

In their formal replies to the charges made against them in the notices, the three council members argue that Dorris never stated his willingness to withdraw his resignation if a better working agreement could be negotiated.

Ottoboni points out that three of the five persons who signed the recall notices were the former chief, his wife and his daughter.

Mayors fire at big government

David has joined battle with three Goliaths.

The San Mateo County Council of Mayors, meeting in Brisbane Friday night, decided to confront the state Legislature, the state bureaucracy and the Bay Area Rapid Transit District on separate issues relating to how things get done in this county.

The Council:

• Went on record as opposing a proposed finance plan by Assembly Speaker Leo McCarthy, D-San Francisco. San Mateo County, and minority leader Paul Priolo, R-Riverside, to fund schools from the sales tax and fund cities from the property tax.

• Blasted the state bureaucracy for turning down this county's proposed "911" emergency telephone communications plan and told the state to either repeal the 911 legislation or provide funding and approve this county's plan.

• Went on record in favor of legislation sponsored by Assemblyman Louis Papan, D-Daly City, which would prohibit BART from exercising eminent domain rights in this county without the consent of local governmental agencies.

The assault on the McCarthy-Priolo plan was initiated by San Mateo Mayor Jane Baker, who noted that the plan's concept is to use all sales tax to pay for schools. Cities and counties would get the property tax money now going to schools.

The City of San Mateo would be forced by such state action to become almost completely dependent on the property tax, a most unpopular tax which cannot produce sufficient revenues to pay for basic city services," she said.

There will be no incentive for any city such as San Mateo for further economic development. This proposal could not come at a worse time for San Mateo. Having recently approved the development of a new regional shopping center, we now face the loss of the revenue source which made that development financially attractive.

The proposed legislation callously erases home rule and effectively, but undesirably, shifts all local financial controls to the state Legislature," she continued.

"As long as cities such as San Mateo have a firm and predictable revenue source in the local sales tax, we are able to financially plan for the future, which is crucial to any business, public or private. Complete reliance on the property tax will subject us to annual political and whimsical manipulation by the Legislature, as well as county assessors and others."

San Mateo Vice Mayor John Murray emphasized that the proposal would mean further erosion of "home rule" and predicted it would mean disaster for "cities struggling to achieve economic balance."

Foster City Councilman Peter Gilbert added, "The issue of home rule is so important in the state of California. It is imperative that we not have Sacramento dictate what will happen in Foster City."

The council decision was not unanimous, since such cities in this county as Atherton, which has a negligible commercial base, would benefit greatly from such a tax formula.

City Manager David Rowe of Daly City said that the County City Managers Association's was frustrated over the state's handling of the 911 emergency communication system. After six years of planning by the Area Disaster Council and other agencies, the state rejected this county's proposal last December, saying it couldn't possibly be funded.

The majority of cities here opted for a very expensive method, called "selective routing," that enabled police and fire departments to maintain their individual dispatch centers.

Rowe told the Council of Mayors that the plan "was rejected because it was not cost-effective, yet they won't provide further guidelines." He asked that the "Council of Mayors take a strong position to tell the state either to repeal 911 legislation or provide funding and approve the 911 system."

Also, in the wake of strained relations between this county's cities and BART, the council went on record opposing BART's taking action in San Mateo County without the expressed consent of affected cities.

The latest flap between BART and Peninsula cities involves a BART plan to reduce service to Daly City in retaliation for Daly City's reluctance to allow a BART train storage yard just south of the Daly City BART station, in the midst of a prime commercial area.

In outlining the situation, Daly City Councilman Bill Schumacher blasted BART for its arrogance. Burlingame Councilman Dave Martin rose to support Daly City in its plight and moved that the council express support for Papan's bill. The council complied.

Martin, in a parting shot at BART, demanded that the Metropolitan Transportation Commission "not let BART get away with" encroaching on Daly City's rights.

Condos

to a year before the apartments could be converted and that tenants would have at least six more months to decide whether they wished to buy their units.

If the companies decide to buy and convert the units, Kuhn stressed that they will comply with any local regulations concerning condominium conversion.

A Daly City official said the city is developing a draft ordinance of condominium conversion requirements that probably will give preferential treatment to longtime apartment dwellers, senior citizens and the handicapped. The ordinance also is expected to regulate the speed of conversion, parking requirements and the time that tenants who do not wish to buy their units are given to relocate.

Kuhn said the companies would offer an "encouragement program" designed to entice present residents of the Crown Colony Apartments to buy their units. In addition to the six-month deciding period during which present residents would have an option to buy their units, the program plans to:

• Offer a substantial discount on the price of the units to residents.

• Offer residents financial assistance in relocating.

• Guarantee elderly tenants two years of occupancy with no rent increase. Kuhn said his firm also is not planning any rent increase at this time "if and when we proceed with acquisition."

The apartments are adjacent to Interstate 280 at Hickey Boulevard.

Kuhn said his company also is in the planning stages with a project that would be built on 230 acres of the northeast ridge of San Bruno Mountain in an unincorporated part of the county, just north of Crocker Industrial Park.

He said his company can't proceed with its plans to build a self-sufficient community there, with several types of housing until the county determines under which city's sphere of influence the area falls.

Royer successor to be elected Nov. 6

An election will be held in November to fill the 4th District supervisorial seat vacated last month by Rep. Bill Royer, the county Board of Supervisors decided Tuesday by a split vote.

Some two hours of public testimony led to acrimonious debate among the four remaining supervisors and a final vote of 3-1 to consolidate the supervisorial election with the regular school trustee election Nov. 6.

County Clerk Marvin Church estimated that the cost to taxpayers for the election will be $45,000.

Board Chairman Fred Lyon cast the lone dissenting vote, insisting and then again the following June.

The person who fills Royer's seat will only serve to complete the former supervisor's term on the board which expires January 1, 1981.

that the board forego its option of calling a special election and instead allow Gov. Brown to make an appointment.

He argued that an appointment would save the cost of an election and assure a full board for the heady decisions that must be made this summer on the 1979-80, post Proposition 13 budget.

Lyon, reflecting the sentiments of nearly half the speakers who addressed the board noted the heavy campaign costs to candidates who would have to run in November.

Daly City, BART to try for truce

Daly City and BART have agreed to smoke a peace pipe together.

The city and the Bay Area Rapid Transit District announced jointly Friday that they plan to have a public meeting May 7 to discuss the problems, alternatives and issues surrounding the train turnaround and storage facility BART wants to build in Daly City.

The scheduled meeting is the first attempt at a truce between the warring city and district since BART's board of directors began threatening April 10 to cut service to Daly City by two-thirds if they can't build the facility in that city.

The board voted Tuesday to carry out that threat on a temporary basis to show Daly City the disastrous effects of reduced service. The board did not decide when the experimental cutback would be made.

The May 7 session will mark the first formal meeting of BART and Daly City representatives in more than six months.

It will be at 2 p.m. in the Pacelli Community Center Building in Westlake Park, near the intersection of John Daly and Lake Merced boulevards in Daly City.

The Daly City and BART staffs will present both sides of the turnaround issue and will invite questions and comments from the audience.

The purpose of the meeting, the city and BART said in a joint statement, "is to lay all of the concerns, issues and problems on the table for evaluation by both agencies and the public."

The BART representatives will discuss the three alternatives they are considering for the turnaround: two locations in Daly City and the most recent idea of building the facility between the Balboa Park and Daly City stations, which would result in the two-thirds reduction of BART service to Daly City.

The Daly City spokesmen will present reasons the City Council mixed the idea of having the turnaround in their city. The most frequently discussed reasons are the added noise, traffic and parking problems the facility would bring to an area targeted for redevelopment by Daly City.

The joint statement ends on a hopeful note, saying, "Both parties have expressed the hope that this meeting can clarify the issues and initiate a process to find mutually agreeable solutions."

Youths may tour abroad

The "Crossroads of Culture" summer 1979 tour for middle school and high school students with counselors Dennis and Nancy Carr of Hillsborough has begun to meet in preparation for its July 9-Aug. 12 tour through England, Holland, France, Germany, and Italy.

Among students planning to participate in the program are Doug Glover of Millbrae, Linda Hollingsworth of San Bruno, and Maria Peyer, Kathy Monaghan, and Laura Hughes of Daly City.

The group encompasses current sixth graders through high school seniors and will be meeting with students from throughout the United States to visit with the people and places of Europe. The Carrs' background includes an extensive one in the fields of art, architecture, and history, and they are making plans for their group to visit such places as Villa Visconte, Stratford-on-Avon, Salzkammergut, St. Vitale, Pitti Palace in the 32 days of sights, people, and adventures.

There still are places available in the Carrs' group and interested students and/or their parents may contact them at 343-9872 any evening for further information.

MH commemorates Doelger Heart Center

Wednesday, May 2, 1979

THE POST

Mary's Help Hospital in Daly City commemorated the naming of its new diagnostic and surgical cardiac care facilities for the late Bay Area homebuilder Henry Doelger at a recent ceremony.

Those attending the ceremony included Doelger's family and friends, sisters from the Daughters of Charity who sponsor and operate Mary's Help Hospital, and representatives of the hospital medical-dental staff, Community Advisory Board, Guild and administration.

Also present were a select group of well-wishers and dignitaries, including Daly City Mayor Victor G. Kyriakis and San Mateo County supervisor Edward Baccio.

cardiac diagnostic procedure, has been available at Mary's Help since December, 1977.

Doelger pioneered the development of the area surrounding Mary's Help, most notably the Westlake district in Daly City and sections of Pacifica. The Mary's Help Board of Directors decided to designate their new cardiac services in honor of Doelger because of its esteem for him and because of his record of public service.

The commemorative luncheon was sponsored by the administration, the Daughters of Charity and the Mary's Help Hospital Community Advisory Board members William McDonnell, James Scatera and Edward King.

Daly City Mayor Victor G. Kyriakis touched on Doelger's contributions to Daly City. As a resident of Doelger's Westlake district for 17 years, the mayor said he feels it is a community that has stood the test of time.

Monsignor Richard Power, Mary's Help Hospital Community Advisory Board member and rector at Our Lady of Mercy in Westlake, shared his personal memories of Doelger.

He remembered how Chris McKeon, Carl Gellert and Henry Doelger, all builders and real estate developers in the No. County, worked together to bring Mary's Help to Daly City, an area once seriously in need of health-care services.

Merrill H. Bronstein, M.D., co-chairman for cardiovascular surgery facilities and services at Mary's Help, also spoke. "Mary's Help Hospital has made a commitment to the highest quality care for heart disease patients and the funds for the Doelger Heart Center are helping at the core of this commitment," he said.

He reminded that heart disease is the leading cause of death among adult Americans and that medical science has made tremendous progress in the prevention, understanding, treatment and rehabilitation of heart disease. Facilities like the Doelger Heart Center will enable all medical specialists involved in the treatment of heart disease to do more in order to help our patients more, Dr. Bronstein said.

Mary's Help Executive Director Rex Chase said the Henry Doelger Heart Center will benefit the lives of the people of the communities surrounding Mary's Help and will serve as a symbol of the development of the hospital into a major medical center.

After the unveiling of a plaque honoring Doelger, which will be placed in the hospital, Doelger's cousin, the Rev. Christopher Fritter, offered thanks on behalf of the Doelger family and said it was appropriate that Doelger's name be associated with a heart center. "The hearts of people who knew him were often healed by his generosity and kindness. He showed a warmth which is the prompting of God's grace. It is fitting that a facility for mending hearts be named in his memory," he said.

PRESENTATION

Mrs. Henry Doelger, widow of the late developer of Westlake, is presented a memento at a recent ceremony at Mary's Help Hospital, commemorating the naming of some new facilities after her husband. Presenters were, standing, left and right, Sister Florence Urbine, president of the hospital Board of Directors, and Monsignor Richard Power, hospital community advisory board member and rector at Our Lady of Mercy Church in Westlake. Leading the applause, center, was County Supervisor Edward Baccio.

All systems go for next events

The volunteers are assigned, the chairpersons have checked their supplies, the decorations committee has finished its work and all systems are go for the annual Our Lady of Mercy's spring festival, "Jubilee," which will open its doors at 7 p.m. Thursday.

Joe Potter, the general chairman, and his floor chairpersons, Mrs. John Hughes, Mrs. Robert Brizuela, Mrs. Robert Drucker, and Mrs. Potter, will be on call for the next four days as the parish hall fills and refills with festival goers who will try their hands at the games booths, purchase investment tickets and enjoy the roast chicken dinners being supplied by Joe's of Westlake.

Mrs. Frank Kelechava is handling the requests for tickets for the dinner and Mrs. Richard Mudge, Mrs. John Willden and Bill Miller are selling investment tickets.

Mrs. Francis Byrne will preside over the installation of new Loyola Guild officers Friday afternoon in the University Center Lounge on the campus of the University of San Francisco.

The meeting will begin with the advisory board meeting at 1 p.m., continue with the general meeting at 1:45 p.m. and conclude with a tea.

Members of the Beta Sigma chapter attended the Bay-Peninsula Regional Council meeting and luncheon this past week at Mariani's Restaurant in Santa Clara.

Mrs. Lois Orent, Mrs. Olive Rubek, Mrs. Esther Hall, Mrs. Kay Huckaby, Mrs. Joyce Thompson, Mrs. Sue Mattis, Mrs. Vera

Louanne Heath

Leuty, Joan Orent, Mrs. Dorothy Vanek, and Mrs. Vivian Burg represented the local group.

Among the highlights of the regional gathering was the special ceremony and presentation honoring Mrs. Thompson for 25 years of service to the sorority.

Next major sorority event will be the installation of officers at a Founder's Day brunch Sunday at the South San Francisco Holiday Inn.

Bargain hunters can check the new and used merchandise, antiques, and books being offered for sale by St. Stephen's Women's Guild during their rummage next Wednesday.

Mrs. Giles Miller is the president of the guild, and Mrs. William Essig is the rummage sale secretary.

The event will be in the Hall of Flowers on Ninth Avenue at Lincoln Way in San Francisco's Golden Gate Park. The sale will begin at 9 a.m. and close at 4 p.m.

It is almost Fuchsia Ball time again.

Mrs. Millie Dunow reports that the Mary's Help Hospital Guild will have "the Ball" May 12 at the California Gold Club in South San Francisco.

Mrs. Elsie Toniello is the ball chairperson and Mrs. Molly Wheeler is in charge of reservations. Mrs. Eva Aiello is in charge of sponsors and Mrs. Dunow is publicity chairperson.

The ball will be preceded by a no-host cocktail party at 6:30 p.m. Dinner will be served at 8 p.m. and music for the dance will be provided by Maurice Wolohan and his orchestra.

Reservations, at $25 per person, can be purchased by mailing a check and a self-addressed envelope to Mary's Help Hospital Guild, 1900 Sullivan Ave., Daly City, 94015, care of Mrs. Norman Wheeler. All proceeds from the ball will be used to help retire the guild's $300,000 pledge to the hospital's expansion program.

"A Girl Scout leader is a Special Gift to the Child" will be the theme for this year's Daly City-Colma Area annual awards event sponsored by the Girl Scouts.

Mrs. Caroline Futrell is the reservations chairman and she is anxious to hear from all adult Scouts who are planning to attend this potluck dinner.

The dinner will be May 22 at 6:30 p.m. in the Hope Lutheran Church social hall.

A welcome addition

A visitor to the Philippine Islands said that he found there the world's most fascinating blend of the West and the East. "There is much that is modern and familiar to Americans," he wrote, "and much that is ancient and excitingly different." He continued, "You will find an almost unbelievable mixture of Asian cultures — and many reminders of home."

"Babba Has Golden Feathers" is a true tale that captures the spirit of the Philippines as it affects the lives of the children who live in the islands. There is a world of long nights and shooting stars that keep falling into the sea; of poor, neglected towns with little houses with jasmine growing in the back yard; of mango trees and tamarind trees and of well-tended gardens with rows of tomato plants and eggplants that sometimes bear whitish-violet flowers.

Samuel Chandler

In "Babba Has Golden Feathers," Antonio E. Santa Elena tells of a family that acquired a duck, but a strange duck. It entertained the baby with its dancing and drank champagne from a coconut shell, but refused leftovers and other mundane human food. For love of this duck, an otherwise demure girl fights three men at a time and follows them until she retrieves her pet. Then she jumps into the river to save one of the thieves who is drowning.

"Babba Has Golden Feathers" is a cute story. Santa Elena resides in Daly City, of all places. He says he finds his city to be an "endearing place full of nice and decent-looking people who maintain a clean, suburban living."

"People," Santa Elena says, "who take good care of their lawns and backyards, and plant roses and vegetables in their gardens."

Daly City, indeed, the entire state of California is enriched when men like Santa Elena come there to live.

"Babba Has Golden Feathers" will delight every young person and every young-in-heart person who reads it.

CERTIFICATE OF APPRECIATION

Daly City Assistant Police Chief Richard Sims, left, awards a department Certificate of Appreciation to Kevin Duggan, right, for his assistance to police officers in a recent shoplifting and resisting arrest case.

Duggan, a grocery clerk at the QFI market in King Plaza, assisted officers Fred Qualco and Ron Schenone in subduing a shoplifting suspect at the store last month after the man began fighting the officers.

WITH THE GOODS

St. Stephen's Guild President Mrs. Giles Miller, Mrs. Bernard Crotty, and Mrs. Alfred DeMartini of Daly City are shown with some of the many items to be available at the rummage sale to be May 9 at the Hall of Flowers, 9th Avenue and Lincoln Way, San Francisco, from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.

PLENTY OF TOYS

There will be plenty of toys for the children in the toys for tots booth at Our Lady of Mercy's 25th annual festival, May 3 through 6 in the parish hall, 1 Elmwood Drive, Daly City. Pictured, left to right, Michelle Quinn, Rita Quinn, Joey Drucker, Patrick Quinn, Christina Drucker, Kathy Kevin and John Hughes.

Workers to choose unions

Clerical employees and aides in the Jefferson Union High School District will have a chance to switch unions or drop their union representation completely on May 17.

The Public Employees Relations Board has set an election on that date at Serramonte High School in Daly City. Secretaries, clerks and resource and classroom aides, now represented by the Classified School Employees Association (CSEA), will be asked to vote on being represented by CSEA again or by the American Federation of Teachers (AFT) or to have no union representation at all.

They will be given time off at pay to vote between 11 a.m. and 1 p.m.

The election was called after 60 percent of the employees eligible for representation signed a petition asking to be represented by AFT.

CSEA won the right to represent clerical workers and aides last spring. It has about 65 members. CSEA is one of two unions representing classified employees in the district.

The May 17 election will be the first time in the state that a classified unit votes on being represented by a teachers' union.

EVERYDAY LOW PRICES MEAN LOW PRICES EVERYDAY...

That's what Discount Pricing is all about! Lucky doesn't offer so-called "specials" on a few items, for just a few days a week ... instead Lucky offers low everyday prices which means you can shop anytime, any day of the week and enjoy substantial savings. Lucky doesn't tantalize its customers with just a few items at reduced prices ... you'll find virtually every item (except those restricted by law) carries a low everyday discount price!

Of course, savings go beyond that, too. Lucky offers "Key Buys". They are actually short-term savings you need to know about to add to your shopping list. We call attention to them with a "Key Buy" sign and they represent either an exceptional purchase, or a manufacturer's temporary promotional allowance. Either way, they highlight a price lower than the regular discount price ... and Lucky passes the savings on to its customers!

Lucky's low everyday discount pricing policy applies to virtually every item carried by Lucky, which includes canned and frozen foods, health and beauty aids, housewares, beverages, sundries, fresh meats and vegetables ... just to mention a few. — That's why more shoppers agree ... LUCKY HAS IT!

THE DIET CORNER

By ELISE GENDAR

Your lost weight isn't sitting around. Open your back door. You don't see 12, 20, or 50 pounds of ugly fat asking to be picked up and loved, do you?

If you talk to a failed dieter, you'll get the feeling that the woods are full of pounds lurking to spring upon the unwary. All it takes is one minute with shut eyes, and zap! The pounds fall back into place neatly, quietly, and wickedly.

Oh, those pounds are wiley. They know just what to do. They are so round-eyed and innocent in their approach. After all, what does an ice cream soda with an old friend mean but some sweet memories?

And how about another smear of cheese spread at the office cocktail party? After all, it's a night out.

Yep, that's the way the pounds are disguised.

But the FD doesn't see it that way. The FD sees the pounds as separate from the eating that puts them back. To the FD the lost weight is a single package, neatly tied, that is capable of thought, plot, and action on its own. This lost weight resents being out in the cold. It wants to be back with the person it loves the most — the Failed Dieter herself.

What the Failed Dieter must do is be aware every moment not only of the pounds lost, but also of the foods that produced the pounds in the first place.

Diet recipes are as delicious on maintenance as on weight loss. Try this:

SALMON SALAD FOR TWO

- 10 ounce canned salmon, skin and bone removed
- 4 ounce pot cheese
- 1 tablespoon lemon juice
- 1 tablespoon dried onion flakes
- 1 teaspoon prepared horseradish
- dash salt

Combine all ingredients together, mixing with fork. Arrange on lettuce cups. Garnish with sprigs of parsley.

One of the joys of completing a diet down to goal range is knowing that there are extra foods and extra amounts of food available. It's equally important for the about-to-graduate dieter to know that too many extras spoil that body.

The pounds aren't waiting, but the calories are. The pounds won't spring back. They will return only if invited back. The Failed Dieter's big mistake is to open the door a little crack. My advice is to be hard-hearted; the Success Dieter maintains by having the extras, not the superfluous. The pounds never return.

K of C slates spelling bee

Marian Council 3773, Knights of Columbus, will sponsor its 10th annual Spelling Bee May 4 at Holy Angels Parish Hall, 107 San Pedro Road, Colma, 8 p.m. Seven participating schools are having elimination rounds.

Each school will send three students, who will compete individually and as a school team, to the finals at Holy Angels.

In the individual competition the top speller will receive a $50 U.S. Savings Bond and the second and third place spellers each will receive a $25 bond. Each student competing also will receive a pen and pencil set.

In the team competition the schools will be vying for possession of a perpetual trophy, awarded for one year to the school amassing the most team points. Last year the perpetual trophy was awarded to St. Thomas More School. The public is invited.

MASK MAKER

Miguel Sanchez, a sixth-grader at M. Pauline Brown School, is finishing his mask in preparation for the Jefferson School District Youth Art Festival at Serramonte Shopping Center May 7 to 13. All schools and grade levels will be represented at the exhibit, sponsored by the Daly City Art, History and Science Commission for the Daly City Fine Arts Festival. May 14 to 31 will find the Jefferson district Youth Art Exhibit 1979 at the Daly City Civic Center. The public is invited to both exhibits.

'BLUES AND GRAYS'

The War Between the States was the theme of a concert presented by the "Blues and Grays" of Colma Elementary School recently. The fourth and fifth graders, students of Norine Sultana and Shirley Plank, re-enacted history through the music of those times. The concert was followed by "American Civil War Day" in which students spent the entire day in activities related to this theme.

Nell Norton

Good morning, good cooks.

When hunger hits during the day or night, what do you do? Run to the grocery store (some never close) or take a trip to the fast food place?

Next time try a Pizza Egg Sandwich. Open the refrigerator and take out the few ingredients you'll need for this snappy sandwich. Toast the bread and cheese, layer on a satisfying fried egg and top with a zippy spiced pizza sauce — that's all there is to it!

PIZZA EGG SANDWICHES

- 6 slices toast
- 6 slices Cheddar cheese
- 3 tablespoons butter
- 6 eggs
- Salt
- Pepper
- Crushed oregano
- 1 can (8 ounces) pizza sauce
- Grated Parmesan cheese

Place six slices toast on a baking sheet; place one cheese slice on each. Broil until melted, two to three minutes. Heat three tablespoons butter in skillet until just hot enough to sizzle a drop of water. Break and slip eggs into skillet. Reduce heat immediately.

Cook slowly to desired degree of doneness, basting eggs with butter or turning to cook both sides. Sprinkle with salt, pepper and oregano to taste. While eggs are cooking, heat one can pizza sauce to serving temperature.

To assemble sandwiches: Place broiled cheese sandwich on each plate. Top with a fried egg. Spoon about two tablespoons pizza sauce over each egg. Sprinkle with Parmesan cheese. Makes six servings.

Mary's Help stroke club

A meeting of the Stroke Club will be May 8 at Mary's Help Hospital at 7:30 p.m. in the hospital cafeteria. Stroke Club meetings are scheduled the second Tuesday of each month and are intended to educate and provide support for people who have had strokes. Families are invited to attend. There is no charge. For information, call 992-4000, ext. 160.

Knights plan breakfast

Marian Council 3773, Knights of Columbus, will have its annual Family Communion Breakfast Sunday.

Mass will be celebrated at Good Shepherd Church, 901 Oceana Blvd., Pacifica at 9 a.m. and will be followed by breakfast at the Muffin Mine restaurant in Pacifica.

Cost of the breakfast is $3.75 for adults and $2.75 for children. Reservations may be made by contacting Brian Kestner, 697-2096.

Teen spring disco dance

The Daly City Recreation Department will sponsor a Teen Spring Disco Dance at the War Memorial Community Center Friday.

Disc Jockey "Vee Tee" will play the latest sounds from 8 to 11:30 p.m. Door prizes, dance contests plus lighting effects will be featured. Admission is $1.50 at the door; $1 with advance tickets. Tickets are available at all Daly City parks, playgrounds, and community centers.

DC woman is honored

Isabel Miller of Daly City was honored for outstanding achievement at the Mary Kay Cosmetics, Inc. national sales seminar in Dallas, Tex., April 19. Ms. Miller was cited as one of the "Top Sales Directors in Recruiting" for 1979 in the independent field marketing organization of Mary Kay.

She was awarded a 14-karat gold braid necklace with five diamonds.

John & Kathy's for home-made pies

Those who revel in the home made pies baked by KATHY WIMSATT at her JOHN & KATHY'S try to persuade her to bake extra pies for take out. But she says after baking sometimes as many as 20 to 25 pies on busy days, that's about enough pie-making for anybody. New bar hours: open at 11 a.m. everyday, Monday through Friday, closing at 10 p.m. on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday; at midnight on Thursday. Open 'til 1:30 a.m. on Friday night. ENRICO ROMANO, owner-host of ROMANO'S Italian restaurant in Rockaway Beach, will be going to Italy in June to attend the annual International Rotary Convention. Wouldn't be surprised if he brought back some new recipes to add to the favorites which have made his restaurant so popular with so many for so long. DOON WONG, whose spicy Hunan type Chinese dishes are winning praise from those who have tried the house specialties at his SZE-CHUAN HUNAN Chinese restaurant in San Mateo, is recently from Hong Kong, where he cooked in two of the top restaurants. His family also has restaurants in Malaysia, where his great grandfather started the business. A reputation for great sandwiches and daily special hot plates has made BAYHILL LOUNGE an attraction for the many business people from the office buildings which surround the Bayhill Shopping Center in San Bruno. Live music to INDEED from 9 p.m. on Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights is another big attraction.

Lehr's Greenhouse dining Mother's Day

LEHR'S GREENHOUSE garden restaurant in San Francisco is one of the Bay Area's most popular dining spots on Mother's Day and DEAN LEHR is already getting lots of reservations for brunch and dinner among the flowers and trees. Mother's Day brunch will be from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. (best seating, 9 to 11 a.m.) and dinner from 5 to 11 p.m. Whatever happened to "touch dancing"? Well, this kind of dancing and music really never really left the Peninsula area, as it can be found at NICK'S in Rockaway Beach, where JIMMY PAYER'S music continues to entice dance crowds Wednesday through Sunday nights. Also in the restaurant complex are THE MOONRAKER and CAPTAIN CHARLES restaurants, all presided over by the popular GUST family. NICK, LORRAINE and son CHUCK. Among those who appreciate the fact that JOHN'S PLACE, the "working man's bar" in downtown Burlingame, is open until 2 a.m. are the many who work night shifts. Owner JERRY LYERLA offers breakfast (open at 6 a.m.), lunch and dinner, as well as full bar service. The secret of success of L'AUBERGE, a distinguished Redwood City restaurant with the decor and atmosphere of a French country inn, is the combination of comfortable surroundings enhanced by gourmet cuisine served with style.

Try La Pinata's zesty appetizers

To start off a zesty meal at LA PINATA, in downtown Burlingame, try one of their tasty Mexican appetizers. Among the most requested is the Nachos (crisp, tiny tortillas topped with refried beans, melted cheese and garnished with a jalapeno pepper strip). The elegant new BLUE DIAMOND fresh seafood restaurant in downtown San Francisco (across from the Hilton Tower) is now open for luncheon Monday through Friday from 11 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. The select luncheon menu features many of Chef Leonard's most famous dinner entrees. You can dine well for as little as $3.95. Abundant parking at the door. An entertainment extra is often enjoyed at JIM SNIADOCKI'S SCOTTY CAMPBELL'S restaurant in Redwood City. Bartenders Ronda Mower and Ernie Pretie not only please patrons with their talents of mixology, but amuse the lounge guests with tap dance routines behind the bar. San Francisco's longest luncheon service may well be at ROSEBUD'S ENGLISH PUB, across from the Curran and Geary theaters, where the full luncheon menu is served from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. Select from luscious salads, hot entrees or the fabulous "England's Great Pub Sandwich." Now that the baseball season is in full swing again, the friendly lounge at the KING'S TABLE BUFFET in Redwood City is once more packed with sports fans who flock in to catch the Giants games on the huge, seven-foot TV screen. Big cocktails and mixed drinks are still just $1.

Phil Lehr's posh new V.I.P. Room

San Francisco's newest "in" dining spot for sports stars, show biz celebrities and glittering members of the international Jet Set is the posh new "V.I.P. Room" at PHIL LEHR'S Pay-By-Ounce Steakery, on the lower level of the Hilton Tower. Lobster is offered several tempting ways at VINCE'S Italian and Seafood restaurant in San Mateo. Selected fresh lobsters right from the adjacent Vince's Fresh Seafood Depot are prepared by the gourmet chefs and offered as lobster newburg, thermidor, broiled, a la king, or cold. Besides the bountiful selections from the 20-foot salad table with its 25 choices and combinations, there are hot entrees on the lavish special Sunday Champagne Buffet Brunch at the BRASS ELEPHANT ROOM in the GROSVENOR AIRPORT INN, South San Francisco. One of the big items is the Roast of Beef cooked to perfection and carved right before your eyes. General Manager JIM RAINE says the whole idea is to make dining in the Brass Elephant Room a memorable experience. Now that the weather is turning warmer, what better way to enjoy a sunny Sunday morning than to mosey over to Moss Beach, where TILLIE'S 'LIL' FRANKFURT, a friendly old-country German restaurant, will satisfy your appetite (by now stimulated by the tangy Pacific Ocean air) with a bountiful breakfast priced at only $2.50. It's easy to have a super time at BARNEY'S and the SOUTH LAKE NUGGET clubs, casinos in South Lake Tahoe, which are "just a tankful away." If you're planning a vacation in the High Sierra, no need to be concerned about a gas shortage. There's no problem getting fuel there. The "super" topper is the free special $5 value gaming-and-cash "Bonus Coupons" available at any of several restaurant stops along the way, via Highways 89 and 50, from Vallejo onward, as well as at several places on the Peninsula. MERLE HAGGARD brings his compassionate music to HARRAH'S RENO Thursday night for a one-week engagement in the Headliner Room. AARON & FREDDIE, a ventriloquist act, open the two shows nightly, through May 9.

'Doomsday' off, optimist claims

By ARVILLE FINACOM
Prophets of doom agree man is fated to wipe himself off earth and maybe even destroy the planet along with himself all in the next few centuries. Not so, says J. Peter Vajk, author of the recently incorporated earlier conservation thinking into a system of "shalls" and "shall nots" which deals with optimism only in terms of achieving negative goals.

Vajk's views of the expansion of released soft-cover book "Doomsday Has Been Cancelled" ($7.95, Peace Press).

Perspective

Vajk and his views are familiar to many local residents. A year ago he was one of several lecturer guests in the Millbrae Elementary School District's Advanced Programs class. He fascinated fifth and sixth grade students that morning with a talk of a two-way, worn-on-the-wrist, satellite-linked communications device to be available, he predicts, before the end of the century.

The same day, Vajk met with interested members of the Space Consortium at Mills High School and detailed for them space mining and solar energy gathering techniques whose technologies are available today. So impressed were the Mills students with the ideas Vajk presented that he was invited to participate in that school's successful Space Day last June.

Most recently Vajk's views have been televised by Channel 2 where the physicist author was a studio guest on "Montage." According to Ian Zellich, director of community affairs for Channel 2, the program on space settlements featuring Vajk was one of the best received in quite a while, one which generated an enormous volume of comment by phone and mail. So much comment, in fact, says Zellich, that it will be re-aired on Channel 2 May 5 at 10:30 p.m.

What is it about Vajk's views that have such force? In a word, they're positive. The idea he presents of the future is one in which there is hope, not only for the most affluent, the most powerful politically, the most ready militarily, but for everyone on planet Earth.

Although he doesn't share the view of Theologian Ted Peters, whom this column talked about April 11, that spiritual man must experience transcendence in order for physical man to achieve perfection, Vajk does acknowledge man's gift for "evil" as well as "good," but thinks the latter can outweigh the former in human nature if a certain number of "givens" are taken into consideration. One of these "givens" is energy sufficiency for all the people on earth.

In the light of the current oil crunch, real or contrived, the potential electric brownouts and blackouts due to reported insufficient generation of power, and the view of many conservationists that all technology is inherently bad and that third world nations need to be "saved" from making the same mistakes the industrialized West has made across the last century, Vajk's views are radical, perhaps even polyanlike in their optimism.

However, his research, job-oriented and personal, represents eclectic study and brings him to the opinion shared with a handful of other like-minded optimists that man not only can save himself from extinction as the dominant species on planet Earth, but will journey outward as well to colonize the universe.

Few would deny that man's view of his home planet has changed immensely since the Apollo astronauts brought back the series of stunning photos of our place in space. Perhaps the most dramatic understanding that occurred was that we have only one earth. As a corollary, from a few miles up, no human-made national boundaries are visible. Man, indeed, must be united in thought and action if he is to survive as a planetary species.

The literature spawned by this mid-60s view of a limited earth is prolific. Perhaps the best known are the Club of Rome study "Limits to Growth," and Paul Ehrlich's book "The Population Bomb." Philosophies developing from this concept the species to a universal habitat are built on those of Dr. Gerard P. O'Neill, a Princeton University physicist who asked his freshmen class a decade ago, just after the Apollo landing on the moon, if the surface of the earth was, in reality, the best place in the universe to carry on manufacturing activities.

The students said "No." From this answer and the evidence the students amassed to support their contention, O'Neill and others developed postulates which they then set out to prove. The National Aeronautics and Space Administration gave sufficient credence to the theories to devote time to study them. Three successive summer seminars were staged at NASA/Ames in Mountain View. Respected scientists as well as more flamboyant ones such as Timothy Leary accepted and argued for the premise. Books and articles were written explaining the concept in scientific jargon as well as in non-technical terms.

Vajk's book is the most recent in the series and, for the layman, is perhaps the best in print. Where O'Neill's popular text, "The High Frontier," available in both hard-cover and paperback, takes the idea and explains it in popular language, Vajk goes back into man's historic, cultural and philosophic past to build his arguments for a future which includes man's permanent venture into space.

Vajk's most challenging concept, and the one on which the O'Neill theory ultimately came to be built, is "harnessing the sundark," the unlimited solar energy streaming past the planetary/satellite sets in our systems, from a point in space itself. Caught within a "bottom-of-the-gravitational-pit" scheme of thinking, most of our presently accepted national solar energy efforts are planet-based in concept. In fact, "Sun Day," to be celebrated May 3, is devoted to exploring the various technologies of harnessing sunshine as it penetrates the atmosphere and warms the earth, its air and waters.

A majority of thinkers, as well as planners and implementers, has not yet accepted the idea that our "bottom-of-the-well" position may make even our greatest strivings ineffectual. A new point of departure is necessary. After all, Columbus never would have reached what he called the Indies without sailing west "off the edge of the earth."

To harness the sundark from space itself is a compelling notion. It was the Greek Archimedes, developer of the principle of the lever, who said, "Give me a place to stand and I will move the earth." Consider how the energy harnessed in space could open what we now see as Earth's closed system biosphere to limitless expansion among the stars. Consider, too, how such unlimited energy could provide power sufficient to supply all man's energy depends on earth fulfilling the food, clothing, housing, transportation and communications needs of every human being now and in the future.

Much of Vajk's book deals with capital "Q" Quality of life. He refuses to define its positive elements saying that each individual's mind set must do that for himself. He does say that if the future is to be meaningful and humane, man must have a balance between positive orientation (such as found in much Eastern thought) as well as the popular Western negative goals of elimination of disease, famine and war.

Perhaps because I have met and talked with both Vajk and O'Neill, as well as other space settlement enthusiasts, I sense the urgency in the message. The way is open to create an alternative future. The only question which remains is, "Will there be time?"

Japanese get mitts on majors mitts market

For Wilson and Rawlings, the dominant baseball glove manufacturers in America, spring training 1979 was Pearl Harbor II.

R. K. Mizuno Sporting Goods Co., Ltd., raided Arizona and California training camps with its own version of the redoubtable Zero — a glove manufacturing factory on wheels called the Mizuno Baseball Workshop.

The 40-foot mobile van, under the direction of former college baseball coach Jim Darby (his wife drove), and secreting two Japanese glove makers, shot down a bevy of Wilson and Rawlings sales by providing players with instant, tailor-made gloves. Not only does Mizuno, an Osaka-based company, make baseball gloves to individual players' specifications, but they put them together in a few hours and, because the leather (purchased, ironically, in the United States) is softer as the result of special treatments, the gloves need little of the traditional breaking in.

Although most of the Giants are continuing to use the conventional Wilson and Rawlings gloves, it is reported that Johnny Lemaster and Marc Hill are in the process of making the switch to Mizuno.

Hill has been reported as saying that, "Anything you ask them to do or fix or re-design to help you, they do it." In Hill's case, they specially tooled a glove to fit his exceptionally large hands.

One only can imagine the dialogue at the first meeting:

MIZUNO: Ah, so, Mr. Hill, you want maybe a glove?

HILL: Yes. I want something that will make a statement.

MIZUNO: Something, perhaps, that will express your inner turmoil over last year's batting average?

HILL: No, something like, "Property of Marc Hill."

MIZUNO: Say no more. Have I got something for you?

HILL: How do you like this swatch of leather?

HILL: Frankly, I was thinking in terms of a more subdued plaid.

MIZUNO: Then this piece of leather is you, Mr. Hill.

HILL: Do you think I could have side vents?

MIZUNO: A cinch, buddy. And we'll throw in a nice little sponge. Just let me get my chalk out . . . ah, yes, I think we have to tuck in around the thumb a little bit, and maybe lengthen the web.

HILL: And I like a more natural slope to the padding.

MIZUNO: How should we handle the bottom?

HILL: No cuffs, with just the slightest suggestion of a flare.

MIZUNO: My boy, you'll have the smartest glove on the team. You could wear it any place.

HILL: Can you make up one appropriate for evening wear?

Footnote: There is no record of the Mizuno Baseball Workshop having visited the A's, nor of talking to Reggie Jackson when they hit the Yankee camp. It's rumored that Mizuno felt that the J's and Jackson would not adequately represent their product because, "We make good gloves, but those guys would require masterpieces."

LOCAL NOTE: I've just received a letter from Joe McGrath, the tired long-time Jefferson High School football coach, concerning the column I did several weeks ago on John Madden and when he played football for McGrath at Jeff.

McGrath, who's been in Florida, which explains the tardy response, wants to point out an error in fact in that column.

Le Pacini

Writes Joe: "John Madden came to Jeff in the fall of '51 (and) played on the frosh-soph team which I coached. In '52 I took over the varsity. John played varsity center in '52 and '53. So you see, he could not have 'turned out for Jefferson football as a Riordan transfer in '53' (as you wrote in your column)."

I stand corrected, coach.

The recent untimely deaths within a week of each other of Luke Easter and Harry "Suitcase" Simpson brought back a rush of fond (although, being a Seals fan, they weren't so fond at the time) memories of Easter and Simpson tearing up Pacific Coast League and Seals pitching when they played for San Diego in succeeding years before going to Cleveland.

Easter broke in with the Padres in 1949, coming out of the Old Negro leagues, where he had become a legend. He was listed as a 27-year-old PCL rookie at the time, but the odds are that he was at least 30.

Easter was absolute nails in the first half of the season. In just 80 games he had 25 homeruns and 92 RBI to go with his .363 batting average, when he was called up by the Indians, then the Padres' parent club.

Nobody thought the Indians possibly could provide their San Diego farm with another slugger of such prowess — as they had promised — the next year. But once again Cleveland dipped into the Negro leagues and presented the Padres with Simpson.

Actually, Simpson, listed as only 24 (that probably was accurate), had spent the season before with Indian farm club Wilkes-Barre in the class A Eastern League; where he had hit .305 and led the league in home runs (31); RBI (120) and runs scored (125).

It was no fluke. Simpson was younger than Easter, and lithe as opposed to Easter's huge bulk, but he swung as wicked a lefthanded bat as Easter had, as he banged out 225 hits on his way to a .323 BA and league-leading totals in triples (19), RBI (156), as well as 33 homers, 41 doubles and 121 runs scored.

Basketball notes: The Lakers have made the playoffs in 17 of the 19 years since they left Minneapolis. Coach Jerry West has been associated with the club in some capacity all 17 years LA made the playoffs. The two seasons they missed, West was not with the club in any capacity.

Steve Hershey, a writer for the Sporting News, recently picked a whole batch of specialized NBA All-Star teams, not all of them serious, apparently.

The only Warrior to be named in the myriad of often nonsensical mythical teams was John Lucas, who made two of them — the All-Non-Leaper and the All-Court Savvy.

Baseball miscellany: It's a shame Joe Altobelli can't figure out a way to play Mike Ivie and both his shortstops only at night and rest them days. Last year Ivie hit .345 at night, but only .267 in the sunshine. Johnny Lemaster hit .261 in the evenings, .209 during the day. Roger Metzger hit .264 after dark, .190 after breakfast.

'3' is Skyline's unlucky number

FREMONT — All of a sudden, the number three has become a very unlucky digit for the Skyline College softball team.

Friday, the squad lost its third game in a row with its opponent scoring three runs — a 3-2 match to host Ohlone.

The scores of the Trojans' last three games have been 3-2, 3-1, 3-2, which wouldn't be so bad except that Skyline has been on the losing end.

And what makes it especially wearing is that the Trojans are in the midst of a heavy schedule, jammed up by early season rain-outs, that finds them playing seven Coast Conference games in eleven days.

Skyline leftfielder Nina Tuccori had a fine day at the plate, rapping a single and a triple to drive in a run. Tuccori drove in Dana Grant for the Trojans' first score with her three-bagger, and then was plated when sister Michelle Tuccori knocked a single for an RBI.

Adult tennis lessons start in DC soon

The Daly City Recreation Department is accepting registration for beginning tennis lessons. These classes are for adults, 16 years and over, with little or no experience.

The four-week session will be at Margate tennis courts, 75 Margate Ave., May 14 to June 11, Monday and Wednesday, 10 to 11 a.m. or Monday and Wednesday, 6 to 7 p.m.; and at Westlake Park, 149 Lake Merced Blvd., May 15 to June 7, Tuesday and Thursday, 10 to 11 a.m. or Tuesday and Thursday, 5:30 to 6:30 p.m.

The resident registration deadline is May 10 and the fee is $6 per resident and $9 per non-resident. For further information, call 992-5356.

Kennedy paces Skyline women

An impressive double victory by sprinter Gwen Kennedy and a fourth place in the 3000 meters by Nori Grossman accounted for all of Skyline College's points in the women's division of the Coast Conference track and field championships Saturday.

Kennedy ran to a solid victory in the 400 meters in 57.8 for a Coast Conference record, 4 ahead of Monterey Peninsula's Tammy Gonzalez, and took the 200 by 7 over Gonzalez in 26.2. Both marks bettered Kennedy's own Skyline stadium records but fell short of her state-ranking season bests of 57.4 and 25.2.

WOMEN'S TEAM SCORES — 1. Monterey Peninsula 207; 2. Hartnell 150; 3. Cabrillo 35; 4. Skyline 24.

Winners and Skyline placers; all races in meters:

NPL baseball roundup 'Big Red Machine' is moving again

By MIKE FICHER

Lou Zuardo may not be able to pull rabbits out of his hat or produce roses from a baseball bat, but his latest moves with the Colts qualify the El Camino High coach as something of a magician.

With the normally high-performing Big Red Machine sputtering, at one point dropping five out of six contests, Zuardo made a few minor adjustments in the act, and the four-time defending North Peninsula League champions are cruising toward another playoff date.

The recharged Colts captured their third consecutive victory Friday whipping intra-city rival South San Francisco, 3-0.

In other NPL action Friday, Terra Nova remained two games ahead of El Camino by beating host Jefferson 8-4. Westmoor topped host Oceana 4-1 and Serramonte defeated visiting Half Moon Bay 3-1 at Marchbanks Field.

For his first trick, Zuardo inserted Mark McQuarry into the lineup to bolster the slump-ridden offense. The move paid immediate dividends as McQuarry stroked seven hits in his first three games as a starter.

Against South City, McQuarry laced a ground-rule double against the centerfielder to drive in Brian Humphrey with the only run. EC needed to support the overpowering pitching performance of Roger Ruzek.

"I'm just happy to be in there full-time," McQuarry said. "The main reason I'm in there is because Brad (first baseman McAdam) hurt his hand. I'm glad to have the chance."

Zuardo's next move was to utilize Bucky Buckowatz as a pitcher and first baseman. In Friday's win, Buckowatz made two marvelous defensive plays to preserve Ruzek's one-hitter, and drove in a run.

Ruzek, who leads NPL pitchers with three shutouts, allowed only one ball out of the infield — Ed Serrata's second-inning single to center.

Skyline thins finish second

By FRED BAER

Skyline College won seven events, but that wasn't enough to overcome Hartnell's awesome field depth in Saturday's Coast Conference men's track and field championships in San Bruno.

Nobody can fault Trojan workhorses such as the Roller brothers (Steve and Frank), who together scored 42½ points; Lorenz Lebherz, who tallied 26 points in five field events; or Skyline scoring leader Tom Bobertz, who set Coast Conference records in both hurdles and tallied 28 points.

However, Hartnell outscored host Skyline, 99-80, in the field events and ran up 230 points overall to 214 for the Trojans. Trailing were Monterey Peninsula (75), Cabrillo (23) and Menlo (22).

Menlo produced a surprise conference champion in shot putter Marshall Newson (50-5), who was also second in the discus at 142-3 and scored 18 of the Oak points.

Bobertz completed a sweep of coast hurdle titles in his two-year community college career. This time he took the two records that eluded him last year. Already the co-state leader in the highs (14.0), Bobertz won that event by .6 in 14.1 over Hartnell's Claude Grady and took the 400 hurdles by 2.7 seconds in 53.8 over Panther Curtis Sells.

In between Bobertz sprinted to third place in the 100 meters (10.9). In the 400, Randy Peterson (50.8) led a one-two-three Trojan sweep.

Peterson also anchored both Skyline relays — the second-place 400 meter quartet (43.3) and the winning 1600 meter unit (3:25.7) in 52.2, placed third in the 200 (22.4) and fifth in the high jump (6-0).

Lebherz got a good warm-up for the Northern California CC Decathlon at De Anza Wednesday and Thursday by scoring in five field events Saturday. The Trojan vet won the triple jump at 48-8, just an inch off his week-old school record; was second in the high jump (6-4); placed fourth in the pole vault (12-0), and took a pair of fifths — in the long and triple jumps.

A Skyline record did fall in the javelin, however. Steve Roller eclipsed his two-week old mark of 213-2 with a 216-10 heave to move up to No. 5 in the state. He also placed a surprise second in the shot at 49-5, (third best in Skyline history) and was fourth in the discus at 135-8. His brother Frank scored in the most events, however, six, including legs on both relays. Frank's best individual place was a third in the intermediate hurdles and he scored 20½ points.

Skyline's biggest disappointment came in the 800, where defending champion Jeff Maxwell lost his conference record to Monterey Peninsula's John Sup (1:53.9). Maxwell tried unsuccessfully to challenge Sup around the final turn and couldn't come up with a sprint for the final straightaway. Maxwell had run fourth in the 1500 and later posted the fastest leg (50.0) on Skyline's winning mile relay.

Mike Gulli won the meet's first event, the 10,000 meters, for Skyline in 33:13.0, and the Trojans took five races on the track, one more than Hartnell, in addition to outscoring the Panthers in the races.

The two rival colleges will clash again in Friday's state small college invitational at Porterville. Hartnell has 17 individual spots, Skyline 11, and each has a pair of relay teams. Most conference placers also advance to the Northern California trials at San Joaquin Delta, May 11.

Yo-yo title at stake

Youngsters in Daly City will have a chance to try their hand at guiding the yo-yo through a variety of tricks in competition at parks and playgrounds May 8 to 17 in the annual Duncan Yo-Yolympics.

Boys and girls through age 15 are eligible to participate in two age categories, 11 and under and 12 through 15, with the boy and girl champion and runners-up in each age category at the city or county level eligible to progress to the state finals. Youngsters should contact their local playground leader for contest days and times.

Participants will be required to perform five tricks at the local park level — gravity pull, sleeper, walk the dog, forward pass, and around the world — with additional maneuvers added at each successive level of competition — city, state and regional. Daly City city-wide finals are scheduled May 18 at 7 p.m. at the War Memorial Community Center.

Nine regional titlists will go on to compete in the Yo-Yolympics National Finals July 20 at the Great America amusement park in Gurnee, Ill., where a $1,000 U.S. Savings Bond awaits the gold medalist, with $500 and $250 in scholarship bonds going to the silver and bronze medalists, respectively. Each regional winner gets a $100 bond.

The big prom isn't far away at Westmoor

By STEVE KAUFMAN
Excitement is running high at Westmoor High School, as the annual Senior Ball-Junior Prom is less than three weeks away. This event is truly one of the highlights of the school year, and suddenly, on the date of the prom, very few students can sit still in class.

It's been an interesting sight around school. To promote their tuxedos, various formal wear businesses have dressed up several Westmoor guys in their best tuxes and they wear them to school for the entire day. This is an excellent way to advertise, as well as make a very interesting sight to see. Hope all of these companies get satisfactory results.

I would like to invite the community to Westmoor's Drama Department production of "The Diary of Anne Frank" to be performed this Thursday, Friday and Saturday in the Little Theater. It has been weeks of hard work for both the crew and cast, trying to create the subtle feelings of failing hopes and shattered dreams these people went through.

Director Kenneth Brown, a long-time veteran of the department, has done an excellent job preparing his actors for the performances. Tickets are available at the door for $1.50, and the play begins at 8 p.m.

The cast includes Babbie Freiberg as Anne, Brian Russel as Mr. Frank, Marcia Kludjian as Mrs. Frank, Christina Loeffler as Margot, myself as Mr. Van Daan, Teri Cinti as Mrs. Van Daan, George Brundage as Peter, Bob Bartolo as Mr. Dussel, Lisa Braski as Miep, and Norman Howard as Mr. Kraler.

Congratulations to all of those students who qualified for six free San Francisco Giants tickets. It's all part of the Giants' program designed to honor students with a 3.5 grade point average or higher. A student obtains the official form, gets his grade point average verified by the principal, and mails the form to Candlestick Park. Within a few days, the free tickets arrive. The program, sponsored by the Giants and a local newspaper, has become quite popular among Westmoor students. Hope all who get tickets have a good time.

The Gamesman

Domino addicts abound

By RICHARD C. MOON

The most popular games in the Bay Area probably are backgammon and bridge. However, the game of dominoes comes in a strong third. If you check across the country you will not find a place anywhere with so many domino addicts. It has been estimated that there are more than 100,000 domino players here but they rarely play the game in Chicago or Cleveland.

"Five-Up" is the domino game most people play. This game was made famous by Dominic C. Armanino, who trademarked the name and founded a company based on it.

There are other domino games. One played in Texas is called Forty-Two. If you like dominoes and are looking for something different you might like to try it.

In Forty-Two, no lines are built. Instead, the dominoes are played as cards in a card game. It is a four-handed partnership game played with a standard double-six set.

Each player draws seven dominoes so all 28 tiles are in the players' hands. The game is played through hands of seven tricks, with 250 points required to win a game. There are a total of 42 possible points in each hand, which give the game its name. There are seven tricks and each counts one point. There are five "honor" dominoes. The 6-4 and the 5-5 count 10 points each. The 5-0, 4-1 and the 3-2 count five points each.

Trumps may be any one of the seven suits, 0, 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6.

Congratulations to Kris Tong, the school vice president, who recently was awarded the California Savings and Loan Outstanding Senior Award. She will receive a $100 cash award and a plaque commemorating the event, as well as attending a luncheon honoring all chosen from the various schools. Kris has been active in student government activities as well as class projects.

Recently, the student government had its annual

Ramblings

Student Government Banquet at Cesare's Restaurant in San Francisco. Here, the various administrative members are given awards, as well as those students who have served on the student government staff. Hope all had a good meal, as well as a good time.

Best of luck to Westmoor's Auto Club, now in the midst of putting together another annual Car Show, to be soon at Westmoor. This is by far one of the most popular events at the school, where students can vacuum, polish, and spruce up their cars and enter them into competition.

Hope all of those who attended the field trip to the American Conservatory Theater had a good time. They went to see the play "Hay Fever" last Wednesday, and were gone the major portion of the afternoon. This group of drama-minded students take trips to the theater often, being offered a special price on the tickets because they are such a large group.

While on the subject of field trips, the California Scholarship Federation should have a good time on its annual picnic. The students will leave for the whole day swimming, playing Frisbee and basking in the sun at a nearby park. Advisor Jennie Gates is in charge of the group.

Best wishes to the yearbook staff. To offset the incredible financial gap incurred in this year's book, the staff had a candy sale to try to make up the deficit. Sally McMillian, organizer of the sale, has worked hard to make the sale successful.

Congratulations to Henry Hall. He set a new school record in the shot put, plus won individual honors in the shot put and discus, plus tied for most points scored. To honor his efforts, he won a trophy recently at the 24th Annual King City Invitational.

Westmoor's track team has been doing extremely well, downing host Oceana 93 1/2-30 1/2. Top performers included Ralph Apostolos' 150-0 heave in the discus throw, Kurt Larcher's double win in the 440 and 880, and Eric Raphael winning the 100 and the 220-yard dashes. Paul Edwinston also had a first place in the 120 high hurdles and the 330 low hurdles.

across the country, there are students concerned with what is happening around them — students interested in politics, government, education and change. Junior State, a non-partisan, non-profit, student-run organization, now 45 years old, exists for these students and all students in the country. Junior State brings together thousands of high school students from diverse backgrounds and serves to involve, educate and represent them in the political processes which govern their lives.

Recently, the Serramonte chapter of the California Junior Statesmen went to a statewide convention in Sacramento. Over 700 students and teacher advisors attended. The convention provided delegates with an opportunity for in legislative-style debates on controversial topics from the death penalty and the draft to test tube babies and affirmative action.

Students also were able to participate in lively question and answer sessions with prominent political figures. This year, California's secretary of state, March Fong Eu, gave the keynote speech.

The students from Serramonte who attended this convention returned with a greater knowledge of California's political system and how it works.

Several students from Serramonte's journalism class attended a student press conference recently sponsored by the Invest-in-America of Northern California Council, Inc.

The purpose was to provide a free exchange of ideas and a dialogue between student editors and one of America's foremost business leaders.

Donald V. Seibert, chairman and chief executive officer of the J.C. Penney Co., spoke on "Democracy is not a Spectator Sport."

Many students asked Seibert questions regarding his company, business in general, employment opportunities, inflation, taxes and energy.

Reg Murphy, publisher of the San Francisco Examiner, presided at the conference. Students attending the conference were Teagle Bougere, Genny Hom, Kathy Williams, Bob Crane, Linda Wenzelburger and Chris Korn.

"Once Upon a Mattress," Serramonte High School's spring production, will be performed May 4, 5, 6, 10, 11, and 12.

The play is a musical comedy based on the story, "The Princess and the Pea."

A cat's trimmed whiskers

By DR. BARNETT, DVM
QUESTION: Our four-year old somehow managed to trim the whiskers on our angora. Our older children explained that cats need whiskers to find their way in the dark. I am not sure they serve any purpose, but now we have a debate going which I hope you can settle. Do cats need those whiskers?
ANSWER: It is thought commonly that cats use their whiskers as a form of radar after dark. I think this probably is true, although they have excellent vision. Cats that have had their whiskers trimmed seem to do very well until their whiskers grow back, so your cat should be all right. He may have problems "feeling" his way down a rat hole for a while, but I doubt that he does that very often, anyway.

QUESTION: Our dog, Benji, has lots of gas and it gets quite disgusting at times. We even tried certain diet things, but to no avail. What can we do to prevent him embarrassing us?
ANSWER: Excessive intestinal gas can be due to not digesting food properly and completely, improper diet, infection or a combination of these things. There is medication available for this, and also specific diets can be used. You didn't mention if Benji has diarrhea associated with gas, so I can't comment on treatment if an intestinal inflation could be the cause.

QUESTION: My dog has warts. They don't bother him, but they look bad. I have thought of taking them off myself, but have been told that they will bleed bad. How are they removed? He has six. Is this an expensive operation?
ANSWER: Warts usually are removed either with an electrocautery unit or surgically, and the wounds sutured closed. Of course, the dog will be given either a general or local anesthetic so he won't feel any pain during the surgery. Cost is determined by the number of warts to be removed. In your case, it may not be necessary to remove them all.

An Inflation Fighting idea from the U.S. Office of Consumer Affairs: Planting a back yard garden is a great way to have the pleasures of home-grown fresh vegetables and fruits all summer long. Safeway, as "green-thumbs" know, carries a large selection of seeds, soil additives, fertilizers, insecticides and tools. Many Safeway Stores also sell "pony packs" of thriving healthy plants ready for you to transplant. Your own vegetable garden won't take much room. The joys of "growing your own" are much greater than the little bit of work involved. Even a kitchen window can be used as an herb garden. Plant chives, parsley, green onions, etc. and snip them as the joys demand.

Important Note Regarding Prices

The prices shown in the right-hand column on each page of this catalog are for reference only, and no representation is made to the effect that any of these prices is the usual or ordinary price at which a particular item is sold. Most of the prices shown in the right-hand column are manufacturer's suggested retail prices supplied to Consumers Distributing. Where manufacturers do not supply suggested retail prices, Consumers Distributing has applied its cost mark-up percentages based on trade customs (which commonly vary with respect to various types of items) to arrive at a price which it considers to be in accordance with customary trade practices. In any event, these prices may vary in different trading areas depending on shipping and other costs and circumstances which might affect such a price. No representation is made to the effect that any of these prices is the usual or ordinary price at which a particular item is sold.

No user of the catalog should assume that a savings will be effected or realized in an amount equal to the difference between the figure in the right-hand column and the Consumers Distributing price. In some cases, other retailers may be selling goods at prices equal to or less than Consumers Distributing price for the purpose of clearing goods which are obsolete or stale merchandise, or by reason of their ordinary business practices.

All prices are subject to change without notice due to manufacturers' increases or decreases, changes in cost or sale in volume, or other fluctuations of the price of goods, and are not binding on Consumers Distributing. The only source of the lowest price is the Consumers Distributing price shown in this catalog.

No part of this catalog may be reproduced or transmitted in any form or by any means, electronic or mechanical, including photocopying, recording, or by any information storage and retrieval system, without permission in writing from Consumers Distributing.
